Fifty-Third Congress.

CONGRESSIONAL PROCEEDINGS.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—Slowly but surely the lines of battle are being drawn on the financial question and before another day passes, the country will probably be acquainted with the full plan of procedure. Innumerable conferences have been held the past three days, between self constituted committees and many were fruitless, but out of the wrangle a plan has been finally evolved to day which will likely win the approval of a majority of all elements. The great question has been not what action should be taken on the financial question, but when that action is to be taken, and when the country may expect relief from the present suspense. To-night all indications point to a drawn battle on the floor of the house without reference to the committee on coinage, weights and measures, Bland, who will probably be chairman of that committee, will readily acquiesce in the programme to fight the battle out on the floor of the house in committee of the whole and in this arrangement the anti silver men of course readily agree.

THE HOUSE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—Mr Wilson of West Virginia (democrat) introduced the repeal bill immediately after the reading of the journal.

Representative Bland offered an agreement made this morning governing the course of debate. It limits the debate to fourteen days, the sessions continuing from 11 a. m. to 5 p. m. and with night sessions for debate only if desired. A vote is first to be taken on a bill to be presented as a substitute for the Wilson bill providing for free coinage at a ratio of 16 to 1; if that fails then at ratios running from 17 to 20 to 1; if they all fail then on a revival of the Bland Allison act of 1878, and then on the original measure.

The substitute bill of the free coinage caucus was called for and presented by Mr. Bland.

Mr. Bland demanded the previous question on his order, but this was antagonized by the republicans under the leadership of Mr. Cannon, who wanted time to debate the question. Under the ruling of the speaker in the absence of rules or an agreement, the ordering of the previous question would cut off debate. By the operation of voting by tellers Mr. Caunon secured sufficient support to secure a vote by yeas and nays and at 12:35 the calling of the roll began.

The vote resulted yeas 217, nays 100. So the previous question was ordered. The republicans generally voted with the democrats in support of the motion. The resolution was then adopted.

Five minutes after 1 o'clock Mr. Rayner of Maryland began the debate in support of the Wilson bill for the unconditional repeal of the silver purchase clause.

"We do not intend that any political party shall survive that will lay a confiscating hand upon America in the interest of England and Europe and demonetize silver in this country, and friends of the eastern democracy, we bid you farewell when you do it." These were the words of Richard P. Bland in the great financial contest that opened in the house to-day, and the applause that followed the determined utterance showed that the great silver leader had with him a material element of the democratic party. It brought every member of the house to a realization that the most serious crisis in the democratic party since the dissension on slavery was at hand, and that the division of 1893, like the division of 1861, would be largely on sectional lines.

In accordance with the programme last night agreed upon, Wilson immediately after the meeting of the house had introduced a bill unconditionally repealing the Sherman purchasing law, and Bland on be half of the free coinage men, followed with a resolution providing for the immediate consideration of the bill and the alloting of fourteen days for general debate before a vote is taken. The resolution of procedure was drawn especially to secure the silver men in their demands for separate votes on freer coinage at the various ratios proposed, but is explicit as to call for a final vote on the repealing bill at the termination of the debate, whether the silver amendment paevails or not. Thus, in the house, at least, the fear of filibustering is allayed and both parties are arrayed in line for a fair fight.

The speeches of the day were marked with intensity of feeling and revealed a wide difference of opinion in party ranks.

Mr. Rayner of Maryland was frank enough to unqualifiedly declare for monometallism under the present conditions, and presented the arguments of the repealing men in the strongest possible light.

Mr. Bland electrified the house by his warning that the democratic party would know the anti-silver men no more if it assisted in the last drama in the demonetization of silver, and Lafe Pence, the young silver representative from Colorado, made one of the strongest maiden speeches in the halls of congress within the last decade, excepting only the eloquent oration that brought fame to Mr. Bryan of Nebraska some years ago.

Mr. Wilson of West Virginia for present consideration a bill to repeal the purchase part of the Sherman act.

Mr. Bland presented the following:

Ordered by the house, that house bill No. 1 be taken up for immediate consideration and considered fourteen days. During such consideration night sessions may be held, for debate only, at the request of either side. Daily sessions shall commence at 11 a. m and continue until 5 p. m. Eleven days of debate on the bill shall be given to general debate under the rules of the last house. In regulation of the general debate the time shall be divided between the two sides as the speaker may direct. The last three days of the debate shall be devoted to the consideration of the bill and amendments, as here provided; under the five-minute rule of the house as in committee of the whole. General leave to print all speeches in full is hereby granted.

A vote shall be taken first on the amendment providing for the coinage of silver at the present ratio. If that fails, then a seperate vote shall be taken on a similar amendment proposing a ratio of 17 to 1; if that fails, on 18 to 1; if that fails, on 19 to 1; if that fails, on 20 to 1. If all fail it shall be in order to offer an amendment reviving the act of Feb. 28, 1878, restoring the standard silver dollar, commonly known as the Bland Allison act.

A vote shall then be taken on the engrossment and third reading of the bill as amended, or on the bill itself if all the amendments have been voted down, and on the final passage of the bill without other intervening motion.

Mr. Bland then presented the bill of the silver men which provides for free coinage and repeals the silver purchasing act.

Mr. Rayner, a democrat, of Maryland, was the first speaker. He said he was in favor of the unqualified repeal of the purchasing clause of the Sherman bill without any condition or proviso whatsoever. He had no hostility whatever to the use of silver on a proper basis as a circulating medium, but after earnest consideration I am convinced beyond all doubt and question that its recognition as a circulating medium without an international agreement was a financial undertaking utterly impossible of accomplishment except at the risk of ruin and disaster.

Mr. Brown, (democrat) of Indiana, expressed himself in favor of the free coinage of silver, but in view of the havoc to business brought about by the Sherman law and in view of the declarations of the democratic platform at Chicago he would vote for the repeal of the Sherman law in any event, conditions or no conditions. He thought the president was in favor of the coinage of both gold and silver without discriminating against either metal and that the president would redeem every pledge and promise made in accepting the democratic nomination.

Mr. Bland was then recognized by the speaker. He expressed regret that a number of gentlemen had changed their opinions on the silver question. The gentleman who had just spoken had retreated from a part of the Chicago platform, from that part of all others that had contributed to give him a seat in the house. He had turned his face toward the east and his back toward the west. The Sherman law was the only law on the statute books that looked to silver as money of the country. He knew at the time of its passage that the element which was striving to effect its passage was an element opposed to free coinage. He knew at the time that that element would demand its repeal at the first moment it saw an opportunity. The repeal of the Sherman act had been part of the Chicago platform, another part had been a declaration for the use of both gold and silver as the money of the country.

Speaking for the people he represented, he understood that the free coinage of silver in accordance with the platform necessarily repealed the Sherman law. The two laws could not exist together. They were inconsistent.

Bland appealed to the members to stand by bi-metallism and not obey the shylocks. The money requirements of the United States with its vast wealth, industry and the energy of its people were equal to those of England, France and Germany combined, and the whole civilized world would have to look to this country for its monetary supply. And yet we are asked here to-day to lay the bloody hand of confiscation on the millions of our population in order to satisfy the greed of England. Will congress do it? Will you trample down the interests of your own people and destroy the value of one of the precious metals simply to gratify the greed of Wall street, a mere agent of Lombard street? It cannot, it shall not be done. [Applause.] Speaking for the mass of the people of the Mississippi valley and for the people west of it, I say you shall not do it, [renewed applause], and anybody or any party that undertakes to do it will, in God's name, be trampled down as it ought to be in the dust of condemnation. [Continued applause on the floor and in the galleries]. I speak as a democrat, but as an American above democracy. [Cheers]. We do not intend that any party shall survive, if we can help it, that will lay the confiscating hand on America in the interest of England or of Europe. That may be strong language, but in speaking to you of the eastern democracy we will bid you fare well when you do it. [Applause] Now you can take your choice of sustaining America against England, of sustaining American industries and American laborers against English industries and English laborers, or of our going apart. We have come to the parting of the way.

"I do not pretend to speak for anybody but myself and my constituents, but I believe I can speak for the masses of the great Mississippi valley when I say that we will not submit to domination of any political party (however much we love the democracy), if it lays its sacrificial hands upon silver and wounds it in this country. For myself I will not support such a party here or elsewhere, but will denounce it as undemocratic and un-American, and the democrats engaged in it will ask the people of the country to condemn as the agents and representatives of the moneyed power and money interests, instead of the representatives of the American people. You cannot hold the democratic party together on that line." [Applause.]

In closing his argument Mr. Bland declared that the time had come to decide whether or not the country was to go to bimetallism. He thought it the duty of the house, especially of his democratic associates, to settle the money question, and settle it at once on democratic lines. It would not do to demonetize silver and undertake to restore it afterward. There was time enough to arrange it according to the principles of bimetallism and in a manner in conformity with the promises of the democratic party. "If," he said in conclusion, addressing his words particularly to eastern democrats, "you do not do it, yours is the responsibility, not ours." [Applause.]

Mr. Pence (populist) of Colorado was the next speaker. With his opening sentence he attracted the close attention of the house and retained it to the end. He was sorry, he said, to note by the tone and words of the gentleman from Maryland (Rayner) that he was influenced by the columns of the metropolitan press and disposed to treat the representatives of the western districts, particularly those states where silver is mined, as foreigners and aliens. The people of Colorado had come to understand that the platforms of the two great political parties were but glittering catch-words and they had therefore within the last twelve months asserted their political independence. It was not, as the New York Sun said, because Reed of Maine was czar that the democratic party came into power. It was because it had declared unequivocally for the remonetization of silver. The scene in the house to-day was enough to attract the attention of any thoughtful observer. Was it possible that the gentleman from Maryland (Rayner), uttering the sentiments he did, and the gentleman from Missouri (Bland) uttering the sentiments he did were elected last fall on the same platform. [Laughter on all sides.]

When the democratic party met in convention in 1884 it declared its belief in honest money, that gold and silver were the coinage of the constitution, and the circulating medium was convertible into such money without loss. That meant, he said, the remonetization of silver at its old ratio, and it was so accepted by the silver producers. But even before Cleveland's first inauguration that platform had been deliberately slapped in the face and spat upon. [Applause.] For the four years of Cleveland's administration there had not been, so far as the administration was concerned, one sincere effort to remonetize silver. The republican administration which followed was no better. Still, it was not his purpose to follow up the evolutions of political parties to take part in a partisan discussion. Elected last fall by a people brave, buoyant and hopeful, he knew their industries had not been protected by the course of the past two administrations by the base surrender of those elected on silver platforms and on silver pledges.

In this connection he quoted from a speech made by Carlisle in the house in 1878 to the effect that the striking down of from three-sevenths to one-half of the matallic money of the country was the most gigantic crime of this or any other generation, and he contrasted that declaration with the present position of the secretary of the silver question. The speech was made, he said, when that gentleman was a leader, not a follower; when he was the sender of messages, not the bearer, of them [Laughter.]

Wheeler of Alabama closed the discussion for the day with a plea for a larger volume of currency and the house adjourned.

TWENTY-TWO PEOPLE DROWNED.

An Excursion Boat Goes Down Off the Coast of Wales.

LONDON, Aug. 8.—News of a sad accident to a party of excursionists was received from Port Talbot, Wales. Twenty-eight pleasure seekers from Ystrad took a boat at Port Talbot and in spite of repeated warnings of danger the boat being overloaded, put into Swansea bay. The rowers being inexperienced, the boat became unmanageable and was carried into the breakers. A heavy sea struck the boat, causing the occupants to rush to one side, when she capsized and all were thrown into the water. Twenty-two, including several women and children, were drowned, and others were picked up by the pilot boat. The man who had charge of the boat and two assistants swam ashore. The accident was witnessed by hundreds on the shore, who were powerless to render assistance.

PUT UP —in glass vials, hermetically sealed, and always fresh—is the way Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets come. When you take a pill it's an important point to have them small—provided they have equal strength and efficacy. You'll find what you want in these little liver pills of Dr. Pierce's. They're put up in a better way, and they act in a better way, than the huge old-fashioned pills. What you want when you're "all out of sorts"—grumpy, thick-headed and take a gloomy view of life, is these Pellets to clear up your system and start your liver into healthful action. Sick Headache, Bilious Headache, Constipation, Indigestion, Bilious Attacks, and all derangements of the liver, stomach and bowels, are prevented, relieved, and cured. They're the cheapest pill you can buy, for they're guaranteed to give satisfaction, or your money is returned. You pay only for the good you get.

IF coinage of silver meant less money the shylocks of the East and England would favor such a measure.

IT is reported on good authority that a mischevious pet called the "gold bugs" are working on the American crops.

GOV. HOGG says: "By gatlins, we are going to have free coinage of silver." He would not talk about the president's message.

THIS, we re-assert, is a free country, and every citizen has a right to let the public know just how small his capacity of knowledge is.

WHY go to England and Wall street for advice? When you are robbed it is not safe to seek the robber's advice regarding your relief.

SENATOR INGALLE says: "The Colorado tramps are crying piteously for bread while the millionaires of the East cry piteously for gold."

FROM every quarter of the south and west comes the report that Cleveland has succeeded in a most complete manner in disrupting the G. O. P.

THE most arrogant unsympathetic cuss, is the man who was once poor and afterwards becomes the creature of fortune. He is a traitor to humanity and deserves the condemnation of his race

IN the year 1890 the world produced $116,008,900 of gold and $166,677,233 of silver. At this rate if all the silver and gold of the world was dumped on the United States it would only ad about $5 per capita per year.

THOUSANDS of poor people are wandering o'er the American soil trying to rent land or obtain labor in vain. The man who fails to sympathize with these poor people is void of conscience and human feelings. Millionaires on one hand, tramps and paupers on the other is in itself proof that rascality stalks abroad.

SOME members of the G. O.P. say that we cannot legislate money into a man's pocket. These same fellows have been doing this and by the eternal it MUST BE STOPPED.

OWING to a misunderstanding we populists failed to join in a hearty laugh just after the recent election. Our oponents will please excuse us now, as we mingle in one universal harmonious, side splitting exhultation of joy.

THE United States is the greatest productive nation on the globe. She lacks nothing but manhood. Shame on the man who thinks that we must bend to the dictation of any earthly power!

MR. MCDANIEL, a leading merchant in Commerce, Hunt county, Texas, who voted for Cleveland and the entire democratic ticket in the last election has announced himself as a full fledged populist in a big speech at a populist meeting recently.

THE debate on the silver bill in congress continues. A vote on the bill will be reached in about one week. Congressman Bailey made a speech in favor of silver last Monday. He declared in favor of forcing the bondholders to take silver in payment of their bonds. Good for Mr. Bailey.

THE McKinney Examiner says:

"We are for the Chicago platform and against Judge Reagan and Judge Clark, against Colorado populist and New York gold bugs."

My dear boy, if this is your position you are an orphan. "Whar ar we at?"

THERE is, according to statistics, found in the New York World Almanac—furnished by Ellison & Co., 10,566,000 bales of cotton produced in the world. Of this number America produces 8,481,000. The population of the world is in round numbers 1,500,000,000. Who says that England should price this product?

THE Van Alstyne News wants THE MCKINNEY DEMOCRAT to change its name because it is not a democratic paper.

The News should widen its scope of dictation. We know of several papers claiming to sail under a democratic banner which are not democratic. In fact it is hard to find out just who are and who are not democrats in the ranks of the modern G. O. P. At present they are vigorously engaged in cussing each other.

We are glad of the fact that we have succeeded in waking up Brother Evans from his political slumbers. In his last issue he devoted a whole column to THE DEMOCRAT in which he excuses the clerk hire robbery on the ground that the "other fellow" was guilty.

On this line of reasoning a man has a right to steal a horse because some other fellow stole one.

The News wants the editor of THE DEMOCRAT to apply to Hon. Mr. Bailey for our share of the steal. For this generous offer we are grateful. Owing to the hard times there is nothing so consoling to a poor newspaper man as a draft for back rations.

We are not so cruel, however, in drawing upon Mr. Bailey for even our share of the clerk hire business. Mr. Bailey has already informed us that he can hardly pay his expenses in Washington, consequently we will not embarrass him just now.

Baking Powders Before Congress.

The Pure Food bill before Congress would be a righteous measure for the people, and should become a law. The public want pure food, and in order to protect themselves must know what is adulterated. All adulterated preparations should be so branded, including Baking Powders containing Ammonia or Alum. Then if people want to dose themselves with "Absolutely Pure" Ammonia or Alum, they will do it knowingly. The public have been looking up the composition of Ammonia and Alum and they don't like the idea of eating either in their hot biscuit.

Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder

is a Pure Cream of Tartar Powder; free from Ammonia, Alum, Lime or other adulteration. And every investigation, whether in the laboratory or kitchen, confirms and emphasizes its superiority in every way.

President's Message!

HOW IT IS VIEWED BY LOCAL CITIZENS.

Various Opinions. Cleveland a "Traitor" and a "Patriot."

MCKINNEY, Tex., Aug. 11.—The News reporter in his rounds to-day propounded the following question to citizens: What is your view on Cleveland's message? The result is as follows, the letters affixed to tne names denote how the party voted in the last general election, H standing for Hogg, C for Clark, R for republican and P for populist.

Dr. T. W. Wiley (C)—The grandest document published. Tracks the Chicago platform. The Hogg men denied that they were off the platform last year. The opposition to Cleveland comes from them.

J. T. Andrews, magistrate (H)—It is contrary to the democratic platform. I am for free coinage.

Dink Clardy (C)—Cleveland first, last and all the time. He is right in all things.

T. A. Coleman, Supt. (H)—I am for free trade and for free coinage of gold and silver.

E. W. Kirkpatrick, farmer (P)—Expected nothing else. It is the reiteration of his views. I regard him as the tool of the cormorant.

J. K. P. Shrader, merchant (C)—Clevelaud is the thinker of the United States. I am for Cleveland and Sam Jones.

W. T. Cox, distrist clerk (H)—It is not in harmony with the Chicago platform as I view it.

H. W. White, banker (C)—I indorse the message.

J. B. Rogers, merchant—It is a straight out republican document on the finance question.

J. P. Dowell, merchant (C)—Cleveland is a patriot. He is a man of the people and looks to their interest.

J. B. Pond, shoemaker (R)—It cannot be beat by a democrat.

J. F. Lewis, merchant (H)—I am not filling the president's chair.

T. C. Goodner, ex-county judge (C)—Able document and sounds the keynote of financial remedy.

John Cook, merchant—I am for free coinage of silver until I am informed otherwise.

J. D. Stiff, merchant—I think that Cleveland is correct.

Dr. R. Gale (C)—The grandest message since the days of Gen. Jackson.

J. R. McAulay, farmer (C)—I think that it is a great document.

Dr. E. Lee Burton—Have read it carefully. According to my view he has departed from the democratic platform.

J. R. Gough, representative (H)—I was disappointed in his message. It was not what we were led to expect from him.

R. D. Erwin, merchant (C)—Best state document I have ever seen; concise, to the point; characteristic of the man.

R. T. Seay, merchant, (C)—Just what might have been expected from an honest man like Cleveland. It places the Cleveland and Clark men in line in Texas.

A. T. Wilson, merchant (R)—Great document and shows Cleveland to be ahead of his party.

Ike Griffin, farmer (R)—Don't like it. We need more money.

Dr. E. N. McAulay (C)—I indorse it in full. It is my idea of finance and democracy as declared in the national platform.

W. H. Sims, express agent (C)—I think Cleveland knows what he is doing. Evidently the result will be all right.

W. S. Goostree, merchant (H)—I am for free coinage of silver. Don't like the message.

M. B. Rexrode, merchant (R)—Think him wiser than when he declared the tariff to be the main issue. The financial clause of the message is O. K. as far as it goes.

Jesse Shain, merchant (C)—To the point; just what the business interests of the country demanded long ago. I am for Cleveland and Clark, first, last and all the time.

Jerome Sneed, merchant—Have not read it.

Tom Foster, merchant—Have not read it.

T. T. Emerson, banker (C)—It is a statement of facts that can't be got around. Let any man who has a remedy for present troubles put it down as Cleveland has done, in black and white.

Martin Todd, saloonist—It is a good thing. I am with him in all good things.

U. P. Clardy (C)—Suits me exactly. It is in accord with the national democracy. He is the greatest man in America

G. R. Smith, attorney (H)—He is clearly not in line with his party on the financial question.

M. H. Garnett, attorney (C)—It comes like the earth's calm sunshine and the soul's refreshing dews.

Price Stiff, merchant (C)—All right. It tracks the Chicago platform.

J. P. Webster, merchant (H)—It is the utterance of a traitor. He has shown himself a traitor to every trust imposed upon him by the democratic party. You can say that I said so.

H. L. Davis, attorney (H)—I am not prepared to fully express myself, but think it goes a long ways from the democratic party. I don't think it was the right time for it.

Capt. W. L. Boyd, broker (R)—It shows Cleveland's patriotism and good sense.

J. L. White, banker (C)—It is a clear, concise and correct statement of our silver legislation and suggests the remedy, being in strict accord with our national democratic platform. Think the majority of business men will agree with the president.

J. W. Asbury, merchant (H)—Am a single gold standard believer. I believe in an honest dollar.

J. H. Jenkins, attorney (prohibitionist)—May run for office some day and consequently do not wish to be interviewed.

Tom Porter, merchant (C)—The grandest thing I have read. I mean it.

W. M. Bagley, ex county treasurer—Have been working the Dallas road. Have not read the message.

J. C. Burns, railroader—If the government adopts the Cleveland policy money will be scarcer.

W. B. Kindell, merchant—Think we need more money. If the tendency of the message is to decrease the circulating medium I am against it.

R. M. Board, merchant—Think it is good. Cleveland is a brainy man.

Tom Dies, merchant (H)—It is good. If congresss will follow his policy the country will be relieved.

G. M. D. Williams, farmer (P.)—Don't like it. Just what might be expected of Cleveland.

T. J. Nale, merchant—Favor it. It comes at the proper time.

C. P. Heard, merchant—Have criticised the message, but do not accuse him of dishonesty. Do not fully understand the import of the message.

J. P. Nenny, merchant—Think Cleveland is right and is equal to the emergency.

Leland Franklin, merchant (H)—It is not in accord with the democratic platform. Aside from a party standpoint he may be right.

Giles McKinney, merchant (H)—Think it is not exhaustive enough. He should have offered a remedy. I am in favor of silver coinage.

S. H. Fox, merchant (H)—Don't like it; not in accordance with the democratic platform.

W. H. Graves, farmer (P)—Don't like it.

John Bryan, merchant (H.)—Don't want to be interviewed.

R. L. Waddill, merchant—It is an able document.

Frank Gutgesell, baker—Cleveland is the smartest man in the United States.

Tom Jones, merchant (H)—Believe in free coinage of silver, you bet. Cleveland is smarter than I am; he ought to be right.

Tom McMullin, merchant (H) Don't know what to think of it; don't understand the financial question.

Dodd Baccus, farmer—Dog gone Cleveland; haven't read his message.

Jesse Barnes, grain dealer—Will have to read it first; am not ready to express an opionion.

J. A. Rodgers, merchant (H)—Am in favor of silver coinage; can't express an opinion on the message.

T. C. Perry, merchant (C)—It is strictly a Cleveland document. I believe that Cleveland acts on the principle of "be sure you are right, then go ahead."

J. L. Foster, farmer—From what I have heard of the message I don't like it.

R. B. Turner, barber—Think Cleveland is a traitor to the democratic party. He is simply a mugwump republican.

Gabe Lucas, merchant (H)—Am a silver believer and expect to remain so until evidence convinces me otherwise. Am not ready to express myself on the message.

Hyter Crouch, merchant (R)—The message is a good one, and if congress will stand by the president we will have better times.

Jonas Bass, grain dealer (H)—have not studied the financial question sufficiently to express an opinion.

F. H. Welch, fire insurance—Think Cleveland is honest. Have no other opinion to express.

C. J. Baldwin, merchant—Not exactly what we wanted, but the best thing under the circumstances.

L. W. Mayhew, merchant (R)—Have not read the entire message, but think that his views on finance are sound.

T. J. Melton, merchant (H)—Not sufficiently posted on the financial question to express an opinion.

R. E. Bristol, merchant—It is a sensible and conservative document. If its advice is followed it will prove equal to the emergency.

Dr. W. B. Edwards, grain dealer (H)—Like the message, but think that the president should have been more exhaustive by advising a substitute in lieu of the Sherman act.

Walter B. Harrison, grain dealer—Think it is all right. The president is elected as the chief executive officer, not a legislator. It is for congress to settle the silver question.

W. B. Wilson, merchant—Think it is a statesmanlike document. It is my opinion that Cleveland is far ahead of the southern and western democracy in point of financial intelligence.

Henry A. Finch, ex-representative (H)—Having been heretofore taught by democratic leaders and party platforms to believe that bi metallism was right, I cannot therefore indorse Mr. Cleveland's message.

THE MESSAGE.

What Our Neighbor Democratic Papers Say.

It seems many democrats who have heretofore stood by the assertions of the party on the finance question have suddenly experienced a change of heart. What brought about this unexpected change is not known. Let it be understood that many of those who pushed the finance question to the rear in the last canvass in order to discuss tariff measures, now are prominently arrayed on the side of the single gold standard. Democrats who made loud professions of fealty to the party are now standing side by side with Force Bill Lodge and Hale, the south haters, in their efforts to make the farming classes and their earnings but tribute to grasping England.

* * * * * *

Mr. Cleveland in his message assumes the identical ground occupied by the republicans for the past twenty-five years, and if he is right it naturally follows that the democrats have always been wrong.—McKinney Enquirer.

The duty of all true democrats is plain. They cannot follow the president on this question and retain their own self respect nor the respect of their constituents. Let every democrat vote according to the dictum of his party and not in accordance with that of a political czar.—Farmersville Times

The use of "if," "might," "perhaps," "possibly," etc., shows that he realizes the position he occupies, that he cannot serve two masters acceptably, and simply that he does not stand squarely on the silver plank of the democratic platform.—McKinney Gazette.

The democratic party of the south and west is in favor of bimetallism and the democratic party of the south and west constitutes about all the unbought democracy in the Union.—Van Alstyne News.

FROM TENNESSEE.

A Trip From McKinney to Gallatin, Interesting Items.

GALLATIN, Tenn., Aug. 6, '93.
Editor Dmeocrat.

We left McKinney Aug. 1st. at 8:15 a.m. and but for the dust would have had a pleasant run to Houston. Rain the evening before had made it fine from Dallas to Ennis, then we had dust again.

Crops generally damaged by drought.

An oasis of red land for ten or fifteen miles south of Navasota had splendid crops of corn and cotton, but Job's turkey would appear fat compared with the last 25 or 30 miles north of Houston, where no attempt is made to grow anything.

Arrived at Houston at 7:30 p. m. and lay over till ten, not crowded and most of the time each of us had a full seat. Found plenty af interesting folks to talk to; slept but little. Daylight, August 2nd. found us rolling through sugar, rice and cotton plantations in Louisiana, mostly sugar. I think the sugar acreage has doubled in the last four years, and rice decreased.

The daylight run to New Orleans was interesting, rains had laid all dust, Crops fine. sugar cane extra fine. Cotton from two to six feet high, with scarcely a faded leaf on it, and very little of it opening. Early rice harvested and hauled off, we saw not one shock on the stubble. Late rice just heading and green as Texas oat fields in May. Corn generally good and from just silking to fully matured and apparently ready to gather. Some planted corn and stock peas together, the peas climbed over, weighted down and tied the corn till it looked like a great big old style sweet potato hill. We saw hands pulling up by the roots corn and peas and piling them in little heaps to cure.

I was surpried at toe scarcity of birds, saw but one Grallatory west of the Mississippi.

We were on time at New Orleans and I wanted to take the girls through the French market but the Louisville and Nashville train was ready for us and we had not a minute to spare. At 11 a. m. we were under headway for Mobile. This was the most interesting part of our trip, late rains had laid all dust, lake Poutchaetrain, the gulf of Mexico and scores of smaller lakes and bays swarming with steam and sail vessels, also boat and light houses, with many watering places, finely fixed up for all who are able to pay for the luxury, kept up a constant interest in all we were passing. Rained just before we got to Mobile, where we dined and at 3:30 p. m. rolled out east to Pensacola junction. At the junction a house standing in the corner of Florida was pointed out to us. We headed north and for the first time moved toward our old Tennessee home.

Alabama crops and country (what we saw before night) looked poor.

Our second night worried us worse than the first but we slept more. Mary and I nodded and snoozed; Linnet rolled herself up, like a cat, on the seat and slept plenty; Miss Lila Franklin reclined and slept some, she suffered in silence and never let the worry interfere with her good natured cheerfulness. In the night I met a Mr. Hickman, from Farmersville Texas, a pleasant sociable gentleman and enjoyed his company. He was taking his four-year-old and three-years-buried son back, to be reburied, in Giles county, Tennessee.

Daylight August 3d, found us in North Alabama, nearing the Tennessee line. Mary and the girls mopped their faces with wet towels, combed up and looked very passible. Mary wanted to scrub me but I was contrary and told her I'd meet our friends as I was. Perspiration had made a paste of dust, soot and cinders on my face, which had dried, leaving it the color of a well browned pone of corn bread. My eyes looked like two junebugs set in the pone and bound round with red feriting. My head looked like a chestnut sorrel colt's tail.

A fine rain last Sunday came just in time to save the corn crop, and another rain Thursday, making it look splendid, in a fine roasting ear stage. An old fashioned Tennessee welcome met us at Gallatin, with conveyances for us and baggage and in an hour we were at our journeys end, with our friends and happy as need be. The Hartsville stage was ready at the depot and the last I saw of Miss Lila she had a seat in it and I heard Colonel Day (stage proprietor) say to the driver, "Take good care of the young lady for she is one of my girls." C. B. MOORE.

Mr. Moore is one of the early settlers of Collin county and we are glad to grace our columns with the above. The letter reached us too late for last issue.

Changing Diseases.

In that delightful book, "Ridder Grange," the husband of Pomona gives as his reason for not removing from a malarial neighborhood, that it don't do for a man at his time of life to go about changing his diseases and adding, that there are diseases incident to almost every locality, and he likes a disease he is used to.

Now, in case of malarial diseases, aside from the unwillingness of patients to "change diseases," it is generally not convenient to change their residences. If this were done in every case, some of our most thriving communities would be depopulated.

Nothing is left to do therefore but to fortify oneself against malarial influences. For this purpose Drs. Starkey & Palen's Compound Oxygen has proved itself in the past 23 years the most efficient thing in the world.

Any person desiring to change diseases for health should write to us a plain statement of their case, when, if possible, the way will be pointed out. The consultation is without charge. Address Drs. Starkey & Palen, 1520 Arch Street Philadelphia, San Francisco or New York, and Toronto, Ont.

The irrepressible J. F. Lockhart, of Copeville, was in town Thursday. He says he is still a democrat and hopes for the best.—Farmersville Times.

Little Anna Dowell, who was accidently shot some time ago, is now suffering most severely from the wound. An abcess had formed which was lanced a few days ago. She is better now.

J. B. Ashley, an attorney, from Scottsboro, Ala., is in the city with a view of locating here. We trust that he will conclude to become a citizen of this place. Welcome to him.

Mr. W. T. N. Smith, of near Sulphur Springs, is prospecting in Collin county for a black land farm. Also visiting the families of Joseph Runion and J. W. Douglass, relatives.

Texas is justly proud of her University. It is a HOME INSTITUTION, and offers advantages equal to any to be secured in foreign schools. Read the advertisement in this issue of THE DEMOCRAT.

Prof. A. P. A. Straiohs' book, the National money system has arrived and he is ready to hand it out for 25 cents per copy. It is a very clear, concise treatment of the monetary question.

We reget to learn of the death of Mrs. Jasper Marshal, near Copeville, whose remains were interred last Thursday. She was married last February. No one stood higher in their community than this young lady and her sudden demise creates sadness in many hearts. We extend to the bereaved husband our deepest sympathy.

Last Monday a man giving his name as Chester Prentiss was arrested. He rode a horse suiting the description of one published in the Dallas News. He claimed to have bought the horse in Dallas. The sheriff of Tarrant county arrived Tuesday and identified the man and horse. The prisoner was conveyed to Fort Worth.

For a lame back or for a pain in the side or chest, try saturating a piece of pannel with Chamberlain's Pain Balm and binding it onto the affected parts. This treatment will cure any ordinary case in one or two days. Pain Balm also cures rheumatism. 50 cent bottles for sale by R. E. Bristol.

The taxable valuation of Collin county as reported by Assessor Chandler, amounts to $10,901,780 for the year of 1893, which is $438,150 over that of 1892. Think of Collin county with her rich farms, cities and small towns. and then contemplate that we have millionaires in this country who are able to own five such counties!

Mr. G. F. Parish who lives near Mantua in the north part of Collin, sold the first bale of cotton in McKinney yesterday. E. M. Board, the proprietor of the Collin County grocery store, bought it for six cents per pound. A premium of $15 was paid to Parish. It classed as middling.

A few days ago, in company with E. W. Kirkpatrick, we visited the farm of Mr. H. F. Wilmeth. five miles north of McKinney. We were most excellently entertained by Mr. Wilmeth who bade us welcome to partake of a bountiful feast of apples, peaches, plums, grapes, melons and cider. Few orchards and vineyards surpass this one. Mr. Wilmeth has already disposed of over one hundred bushels of apples and he has a supply of at least 500 bushels more on hand. Those who think that fruit, berries and vegetables are a failure in this part of Texas should visit the beautiful rural home of our most worth citizen, H. F. Wilmeth. The first and paramount duty of every man who owns a piece of land is to stock it at once with fruit trees and vines. By so doing the comforts of life will be added to them.

Mr. H. J. Mayers, of Oaklond, Md., says: "I have sold teirteen bottles of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to-day and am litterally sold out. This is the largest sale on record of any one preparation in a day over our counters. It gives the best satisfaction of any cough medicine we handle, and as a seller it leads all other preparations on this market." For sale by R. E. Bristol.

Many banks are being rushed upon by depositors. Tom Jones grocery House is also being rushed upon by the people to get their share of the bargains deposited there.

Bethany Picnic.

The managers of the alliance picnic which was to have been held at Bethany, last, Saturday has postponed the picnic until Saturday, Aug. 19th. This was owing to the heavy rains the evening before. There was quite a number present, however, who did not hear of the postponement. The following is a brief report of the proceedings:

E. C. Forbes was master of ceremonies, and after annoucing that the prime issue before the country was bimetallism and monometallism, he introduced to an attentive audience Capt. R. W. Carpenter, who was a delegate from Collin county to the silver convention at Chicago.

The captain reported forty two states and territories represented by 810 delegates. He said all parties—democrats, republicaas, prohibitionists and populists—united solidly on the re establishment of silver to the place it occupied prior to 1873. They declared in favor of a parity of 1 to 16 and pledged themselves to stand in line with the west.

The speaker regarded Cleveland as a traitor and said that if relief is not given by this congress there will be a change in parties.

The speaker is chairman of the executive committee on the (Hogg) democracy.

Mr. England entertained the audience with tributes to woman, the alliance and to the honesty of purpose of the rank and file of all parties. His remarks were conservative.

E. W. Kirkpatrick spoke some time on the question of currency, its intrinsic and essential values, redeemable and exchangable qualities, honest and dishonest money. He divided voters into two classes—commercialists and suffragists and said Americans need no redeemable carrency except as a makeshift until the people become posted as to the nature of a true currency. Gold had been inflated in value until it had become a dishonest money and should be demonetized.

The utmost harmony prevailed.

The success of Mrs. Annie M. Beam, of McKeesport, Pennsylvania, in the tre tment of diarrhœa in her children will undoubtedly be of interest to many mothers. She says: "I spent several weeks in Jonstown, Pa., after the great flood, on account of my husband being employed there. We had several children with us, two of whom took the diarrhœa very badly. I got some of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhœa Remedy from Rev. M. Chapman. It cured both of them. I knew of several other cases where it was equally successful. I think it cannot be excelled and cheerfully recommend it." 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by R. E. Bristol.

Picnic Postponed.

On account of the rain last Friday evening, the picnic at Bethany, six miles north west of Plano, is postponed until Saturday, Aug. 19, 1893.

C. A. McMeans and other prominent speakers will address the people. Music by the Plano-Locust Grove Brass Band. For privileges and rights apply to

T. B. CARROLL,
E. C. FORBES,
H. J KELLY,
Committee.

Protracted Meeting.

Elder B. B. Sanders will assist in a protracted meeting to begin at the Christian church on next Sunday, the 20th, inst. He will be accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Douthitt, two of as fine singers as there are in the state. A tabernacle 60x90 feet will be erected on lot north of the church building to accommodate the people, and ample seating capacity will be supplied for all who may attend.

East Anthony Street.

Lo! verily, the hammer and saw ring out merrily and the walls of new buildings echo and re-echo the sound thereof

John E. Wilson has just finished a neat four-room residence.

W. H. Watterman will begin at once a modern suburban cottage,

S. T. Sealy has purchased a lot and will build soon.

Others are negotiatig for lots on which to build.—And the outlook now is that in the next forty days Anthony street will assume the appearance of a New York suburban avenue.

Lectures and Rifle-wing Shooting.

Lecture at Willow Springs Monday night Aug. 21st., by Prof. Straiho, on government matters—favoring government ownership of railroads and telegraphs; opposing the subtreasury plan, wherein there is a building of government ware houses, but offers a system as a better one. The Professor, also, being a rifle-wing marksman, will take his Winchester with him and do some riflewing shooting at 2 o,clock p. m. of that day. He proposes to make more scores in one shot than all the crowd with all their shots put together.

Fayburg Dots.

Editor Democrat.

Boll worms are destroying the fruits of our labor as fast as they can and if they continue at the present rate for the next ten days the cotton crops will be destroyed except the few matured bolls.

The Christian church is holding a meeting here, under their tent.

Our new school house will soon be completed and will be a credit to Fayburg and community. Our next school will be taught by Prof. Hunter, of Blue Ridge.

I will give your readers our business firms. W. A. Montgomery & Son, dealers in dry goods and groceries; J. A. Barnett, mill and gin; Geo. Thompson, contractor and builder; Frank Allie, blacksmith; John Steinbaugh, dealer in produce; Mr. Tims, machinist, and other, firms too numerous to mention.

The city is on a boom.

OBSERVER.

Mr. Thomas Batte, editor of the Graphic, Texarkana, Arkansas, has found what he believes to be the best remedy in existence for the flux. His experience is well worth remembering. He says: "Last summer I had a very severe attack of flux. I tried almost every known remedy, none giving relief. Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhœa Remedy was recommended to me. I purchased a bottle and received almost immediate relief. I continued to use the medicine and was entirely cured. I take pleasure in recommending this remedy to any person suffering with such a disease, as in my opinion it is the best medicine in existence." 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by R. E. Bristol.

Crops, Society Dots and Politics.

PARKER, Tex., Aug. 12. 1893.

Editor Democrt:

A good rain fell here yesterday which was long wished for.

Cotton will, no doubt, be a great deal better than expected.

The Baptist meeting closed here last Monday night with one conversion: But a great deal of interest was manifested in the meeting.

Miss Molly Haly, of this city, was the guest of Miss Ora Brinson, of Nevada, this week.

Homer James left here last Tuesday for his home in Arkansas.

J. R. Deshong, of Rock Hill, is visiting friends here this week.

M. J. and J. W. Oxford, of Pidcoe, Texas, have taken Collin county as their choice.

P. R. Odell was visiting friends in Lewisville, Denton county, last Saturday and Sunday.

D. W. Sleigh left here last week for his home in Fannin county.

Bud Wilson and Tom Knight took a flying trip to McKinney last Tuesday.

W. A. Wilson, Charlie Jones, Tom and Criss Alexander, all of Stinson, paid this city an appreciated call last evening.

Mrs. Dude wanted to go to the picnic to day, but the bachelor is gone and I am left at home.

Cotton will soon do to pick in this neighborhood.

Politics is hatching out in this city, and the financial situation will be cussed, discussed and disgusted for the next fifteen months. Poor "demerkrats," we have something to cuss for, don't we? Why not unite on free coinage of silver and be as one people?

MRS. DUDE.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescriced local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address,

J. F. CHENEY & CO.,

CONGRESS

—HAS—

and is now in special session, but what are they going to do with the Great Money and Tariff Issues

now before them is the question asked by every one. We ask, what can they do? We know what the people of this county can do, they can come to and get full value for EVERY DOLLAR they wish to spend for DRY GOODS, CLOTHING, BOOTS, SHOES, HATS, TRUNKS, MILLINERY, ETC.

Any man would be making a terrible mistake to make a great spread and lots of loud talk about the goods he is selling,

WHEN HE KNOWS

they are of no, or very little value and won't stand a fair test. We don't advertise for the fun of the thing, or because we like to pay the bills, but because and tell you we have the stuff that will give you perfect satisfaction and that IT IS WORTH THE MONEY YOU PAY FOR IT.

WE SEEK TRADE BY

legitimate principles only, and strive to hold it by fair and right treatment. We are sacrificing a great many SUMMER GOODS for our fall and winter goods are beginning to come in and

WE WANT THE SPACE.

John J. Ingalls said last week to a reporter: "This day is balmy and sunshiny in comparison with the clouds and storms just ahead of us. The ultimate result will be a redistribution of the assets of the country. The millionaire of to-day will occupy the pauper's hut, and the pauper in the near future will ride in the chariot of the millionaire. The devastation of the yellow fever in the south was not near so disastrous as the situation in Colorado produced by the closing of the mines. Thousands of people are walking the streets of Denver like the early Nazarine. Foxes have holes and birds of the air have nests, but the Colorado tramp hath no where to lay his head. On every street corner in Denver goes up the piteous cry for bread; in Wall street the piteous cry goes up for gold. When these two panicky conditions come together in the great Mississippi valley, chaos and anarchy will follow."

Loco Bill Killed.

DICKENS, Dickens Co., Tex., Aug. 5.—E. B. Shaw, living ten miles east, rode ito town bare back and excitedly called for Sheriff J. D. Harker and Mr. Ballard. When Mr. Harker got to him he said: "I have killed Loco Bill, (Loco Bill being a nickname for E. W. Nolan) "and I am ready to surrender," and handed the sheriff his winchester. Turning to Mr. Ballard he said: "I have killed Loco Bill and want you to go and hold an inquest on him."

At the place designated the dead body of Loco Bill was found within twenty-five steps of Mr. Shaw's residence, with a bullet hole nearly between and a little above the eyes, the ball passing out at the back of the head.

The evidence at the inquest showed that deceased came on defendant 225 yards from his home and commenced abusing him; that defendant ran to his house, warning deceased not to follow him; that deceased entered defendant's premises and continued to abuse him; that defendant ordered him to leave several times, and finally shot him as stated above.

Shaw was admitted to bail in the sum of $1500, which he gave in less than one hour and was released.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

What is CASTORIA

Castoria is Dr. Samuel Pitcher's prescription for Infants and Children. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. It is a harmless substitute for Paregoric, Drops, Soothing Syrups, and Castor Oil. It is Pleasant. Its guarantee is thirty years' use by Millions of Mothers. Castoria is the Children's Panacea —the Mother's Friend.

Castoria.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me." H. A. ARCHER, M. D., 111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"The use of 'Castoria' is so universal and its merits so well known that it seems a work of supererogation to endorse it. Few are the intelligent families who do not keep Castoria within easy reach." CARLOS MARTYN, D. D., New York City.

Castoria.

Castoria cures Colic, Constipation, Sour Stomach, Diarrhœa, Eructation, Kills Worms, gives sleep, and promotes digestion, Without injurious medication.

"For several years I have recommended your 'Castoria,' and shall always continue to do so as it has invariably produced beneficial results." EDWIN F. PARDEE, M. D., 125th Street and 7th Ave., New York City.

WOMEN SHED TEARS.

ANOTHER TURBULENT MEETING OF THE LADY MANAGERS.

Mrs. Ball Preferred Charges Against Mrs. Meredith Which Caused a Sensation—No Indictments For the Cold Storage Fire—Louisiana Day.

CHICAGO, Aug. 8.—The board of lady managers indulged in another decidedly unpleasant wrangle at their meeting. It lasted about two hours and during that time many unpleasant and disagreeable things were said, tears were shed and many of the ladies gave vent to their feelings by hissing and uttering strange noises.

The trouble was over charges preferred by Mrs. Ball of Delaware against Mrs. Meredith. Mrs. Meredith is chairman of the committee of awards, and Mrs. Ball said whenever Mrs. Meredith could not attend the committee meetings she would send her sister, who had no connection whatever with the World's fair. Mrs. Meredith denied the charge. The meeting adjourned without taking any action.

EXHIBIT OF ARMOR, AUSTRIA SECTION LIBERAL ARTS BUILDING.

British Day.

CHICAGO, Aug. 8.—Extensive preparations are being made by the executive committee to make British day, Aug. 19, a success. The programme, as at present arranged, is a parade and procession down town, in which every country of the British empire now represented in the city will take part.

Captain Gordon, the commanding officer of the British troops now stationed at the Stock pavilion, will be chief marshal of the day.

No Indictments For the Fire.

CHICAGO, Aug. 8.—No true bills resulted from the investigation of the Cold Storage warehouse fire and the grand jury was discharged by Judge Clifford. Thus exoneration comes to the four men held over at the inquest, D. H. Burnham, Fire Marshal Murphy, John B. Skinner and Charles A. McDonald.

SKETCH IN JAVENESE VILLAGE.

Louisiana Day at the Fair.

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 8.—Governor Foster left here for Chicago escorted by his entire staff and the battallion of the Washington artilery of this city. A number of citizens accompanied the party, including the more prominent officers in the militia and some ladies. The party goes to the exposition to celebrate "Louisiana day," Aug. 10, when Governor Foster will be the orator of the day.

Out of the Fen but Into Jail.

TOPEKA, Aug. 8.—John P. Greer, formerly of the Cherokee nation, was sent to the penitentiary four years ago from southern Kansas for forgery. His time was up and he was released, but no sooner did his feet touch free soil than he was collered by a United States deputy marshal of this city and brought to the county jail here. He was arrested on a warrant from the United States district court at Fort Smith, Ark., charging him with attempted wife murder in the Cherokee nation. He will be removed to Fort Smith.

A Jewelry Store Robbed.

MORRIS, Ills., Aug. 8.—Ever since the opening of the World's fair this section of the country has been overrun with thieves and tramps driven out of Chicago by the police and many robberies have occurred. The jewelry store of D. A. Meagher at Kinsman, three miles south of here was entered and completely looted. Cases of jewelry were removed and it is supposed they were taken away in wagons and secreted in the woods near here. The people are aroused and have employed special officers to watch their stores.

A Building Collapses.

CLINTON, Ia., Aug. 8.—A 3-story brick building occupied by Ballar & Seeber, agricultural implements, and on the second and third floors of the Bijou opera house, fell with a tremendous crash. Workmen were busy about the building, but all escaped save one man, who was slightly injured by falling brick. The loss is $10,000.

Closed by Executions.

HUDSON, Wis., Aug. 8.—Executions of a judgment for $100,000 closed the Hudson Furniture company.

Town on Fire.

HARRINGTON, Del., Aug. 8.—The town of Snowhill, Md., is on fire. Every indication is that it will be totally destroyed. The fire department from Salisbury, Md., was called on and is all ready to leave Salisbury, but there is no locomotive there to haul the train. The origin of the fire is unknown. Two engines have been sent from Wilmington.

The Rapid Current Caught Him.

GREAT FALLS, Mont., Aug. 8.—City Treasurer J. P. Elliott was drowned at the Great Falls of the Missouri, 12 miles down the river. He had gone there with a pleasure party for a day's outing, and with a companion was bathing in rapid water below the falls, when he was seized by an undercurrent and was lost before help could reach him.

Assault and Double Murder.

LAS VEGAS, N. M., Aug. 8.—At El Arroyo de las Utas, in the extreme eastern part of the county, an old woman, name unknown, was murdered, together with an 11-year-old child which was living with her. The child was ravished before being killed. The murderer also robbed the place. There is no clew.

A LITTLE COMMON SENSE

About Malaria—What Old Cases of Ague Should Know.

You have had fever and ague; or, perhaps, have had dumb ague, in which there are no distinct chills. At any rate, you have malaria in your system, which makes you miserable during the later summer months and fall. You have doctored much. Quinine you have taken till your ears ring, arsenic till your nerves quiver, and strychnia till your jaws are stiff. Still the malaria hangs about. You don't feel good a little bit. Miserable! that's the only word that describes it. Chilly feelings, hot flashes, cold feet and legs, coated tongue, bad taste, offensive breath, poor digestion and appetite—all these and more. Tonics fail, nervines are useless, and liver medicines a waste of time and money.

But Pe-ru-na will cure you—cure you completely—make you feel as good as new. And you will stay cured, too. Peru na contains no quinine to injure the brain, no arsenic to destroy the stomach, no strychnia to impair the nerves. It is a natural, wholesome, never-failing nerve tonic, blood purifier and invigorator of the whole system.

Various Opinions.

Who can point out the cause of the financial depression? Geo. Gould says it is hostility to corporations, the farmer says it is the low price of wheat, the silver miner says it is the action of Wall street, Wall street says it is the action of the silver men, the manufacturer says it is the fear of free trade, the consumer says it is the tariff, the capitalist says it is the exorbitant demands of labor, the laborer says it is the oppression of capital, the debtor says it is the creditor, the creditor says it is the debtor, the democrat says it is the republican, the republican says it is the democrat, the populist says it is both, the prohibitionist says it is whisky, and the preacher says it is the devil.—Sherman Courier.

THE SHERMAN LAW.

Full Text of the Sherman Silver Purchasing Act of 1890.

The following is a full text of the Sherman silver purchasing law of 1890, about which there has been so much discussion:

An act directing the purchase of silver bullion and the issue of treasury notes thereon, and for other purposes.

Be it enacted by the senate and house of representatives of the United States of America, in congress assembled, That the secretary of the treasury is hereby directed to purchase from time to time silver bullion to the aggregate amount of 4,500,000 ounces, or so much thereof as may be offered each month at the market price thereof not exceeding $1 for three hundred and seventy-one and twenty-five hundredths grains of pure silver, and to issue in payment for such purchases of silver bullion treasury notes of the United States to be prepared by the secretary of the treasury in such form and such denominations—not less than $1 nor more than $1000—as he may prescribe, and a sum sufficient to carry into effect the provisions of this act is hereby appropriated out of any money in the treasury not otherwise appropriated.

Sec. 2. That the treasury notes issued in accordance with the provisions of this act shall be redeemable on demand, in coin, at the treasury of the United States or at the office of any assistant treasurer of the United States, and when so redeemed may be reissued, but no greater or less amount of such notes shall be outstanding at any time than the cost of the silver bullion and the standard silver dollars coined therefrom, then held in the treasury purchased by such notes; and such treasury notes shall be a legal tender in payment of all debts, public or private, except where otherwise expressly stipulated in the contract, and shall be receivable for customs, taxes and public dues, and when so received may be reissued; and such notes when held by a national banking association may be counted as part of its lawful reserve. That upon demand of the holder of any of the treasury notes herein provided for the secretary of the treasury shall, under such regulations as he may prescribe, redeem such notes in gold or silver coin at his discretion, it being the established policy of the United States to maintain the two metals on a parity with each other upon the present legal ratio, or such ratio as may be provided by law.

Sec. 3. That the secretary of the treasury shall each month coin 2,000,000 ounces of the silver bullion purchased under the provisions of this act into standard silver dollars until the 1st day of July, 1891, and after that time he shall coin of the silver bullion purchased under the provisions of this act as much as may be necessary to provide for the redemption of the treasury notes herein provided for, and any gain or seigniorage arising from such coinage shall be accounted for and paid into the treasury.

Sec. 4. That the silver bullion purchased under the provisions of this act shall be subject to the requirements of existing law and the regulations of the mint service governing the methods of determining the amount of pure silver contained and the amount of charges and deductions, if any, to be made.

Sec. 5. That so much of the act of Feb. 28, 1878, entitled "An act to authorize the coinage of the standard silver dollar, and to restore its legal tender character," as requires the monthly purchase and coinage of the same into silver dollars of not less than $2,000,000 nor more than $4,000,000 worth of silver bullion is hereby repealed.

Sec. 6. That upon the passage of this act the balances standing with the treasurer of the United States to the respective credits of national banks for deposits made to redeem the circulating notes of such banks and all deposits thereafter received for like purpose shall be covered into the treasury as a miscellaneous receipt, and the treasurer of the United States shall redeem from the general cash in the treasury the circulating notes of said banks which may come into his possession subject to redemption, and upon the certificate of the comptroller of the currency that such notes have been received by him and that they have been destroyed by him and that no new notes will be issued in their place, reimbursement of their amount shall be made to the treasurer, under regulations as the secretary of the treasury may prescribe, from an appropriation hereby created, to be known as national bank notes redemption account, but the provisions of this act shall not apply to the deposits received under section 3 of the act of June 20, 1874, requiring every national bank to keep in lawful money with the treasurer of the United States a sum equal to 5 per centum of its circulation, to be held and used for the redemption of its circulating notes, and the balance remaining of the deposits so covered shall at the close of each month be reported on the monthly public debt statement as debt of the United States bearing no interest.

Sec. 7. That this act shall take effect 30 days from and after its passage.

Approved July 14, 1890.

Culberson's Bill.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—Mr. Culberson will introduce a bill or some one will in his behalf which will provide for the repeal of the purchasing clause of the Sherman act, and will also provide for the coinage of silver without charge for mintage at a ratio of 16 to 1. The bill, it is understood, in its wording will follow as closely as may be section 7 of the Democratic platform of 1892, which favors the coinage of both gold and silver without discriminating against either metal or charge for mintage, but the dollar unit of the coinage of both metals must be of equal intrinsic and unchangable value, or be adjusted through international agreement or by such safeguards or legislation as shall insure the maintenance of the parity of the two metals and equal power of every dollar at all times in the markets and payments of debts. By this means it is thought that Democratic opponents of the bill thus framed will put in the attitude before the country of opposing their own platform.

Smith Assistant Doorkeeper.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—The result of the race for doorkeeper of the house is that Ed Smith, who ran and withdrew just before the caucus, thus making the election of Hurt possible without a contest, is to be made assistant doorkeeper. The position is a good one and was held during the last session by William Nichols of Galveston.

Few Changes In Chairmanships.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—There is nothing known as to what Speaker Crisp will do about the committees. The first day was such a busy one in organizing that no one seems to have paid enough attention to the matter to give any opinion. The idea is gaining ground, however, that the changes in chairmanships will be few.

Bynum and Cockran to Lead.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—Mr. Bourke Cockran of New York, and Mr. Bynum of Indiana, are to be the leaders of anti-silver forces on the Democratic side of the floor of the house. It is stated that the distinguished Tammany orator at the suggestion of Mr. Cleveland himself has devoted his spare time during the summer to a study of the question in all its phases.

Silver on Hand.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8.—The government has 130,000,000 ounces of fine silver, costing $118,000, coinage value $167,000,000. If coined the government will make a profit of $48,000,000. It would take with the present coinage capacity, five years to convert the silver into dollars.

Grasshoppers Stripping Fruit.

RAMSEY, Ills., Aug. 8.—The grasshoppers are making sad havoc among the young fruit trees in this section, stripping them entirely of leaves. Many will die.

BOTANIC BLOOD BALM

A thoroughly tested Remedy FOR ALL BLOOD and SKIN DISEASES.

This standard remedy has been tested, and not found wanting, for forty years by an eminent physician, who has used it with certain and unvarying success for all diseases for which it is recommended. It never fails to benefit from the first dose, quickly and effectually driving out all disease germs from the system through the medium of the skin, liver and kidneys without any unpleasant or injurious effects. It is not the result of ignorance or superstition, but it is founded upon common sense and a thorough knowledge of modern medical science. It effectually purifies and enriches the blood and brings health to the sufferer. As a general tonic it is without a rival, and in its analysis of health-giving properties it is absolutely beyond comparison with any remedy ever offered to the public. It is a panacea for all ills resulting from impure and impoverished blood—the current of life—which cures Scrofula, Ulcers, Eczema, Skin Diseases and Eruptions, Catarrh, Rheumatism, Liver, Kidney and Bladder Diseases, Female Weaknesses, Nervous Diseases, etc.

WATERPROOF COAT in the World!

Illustrated Catalogue Free. A. J. TOWER, BOSTON, MASS.

LOUISVILLE, Aug. 8.—All doubt as to the extension of time in which the tax on whisky of May, 1890, will have to be paid was removed by a telegram received by Collector Johnson from Commissioner Miller. The message was brief, but it contained all the information necessary. It stated that the application for an extension or a withdrawal of the whisky for export had been made too late and instructed the collector to proceed to collect the tax.
